17 November 2026
by: Robert Viragh logicallee on Hacker News: https://news.ycombinator.com/user?id=logicallee
nonce kj345y@#rty%9sSDfh20271117

Recent indicators of email compromise. When corresponding with a genuine party (here marked as domain 1), as in this example, through a service that includes data sharing agreements (that I agreed to in order to use the service), including authorized sharing of email addresses and details:

Eventually the data is purchased by another party and a reply is received from the unrelated domain, here marked as domain 2:

